JAPAN PLANS TO FIGHT

Mikado's Armies Said to Be Scenes of Warlike Activity—Accuse Czar's Government.

Victoria, May 8.—The steamer Tosa Maru, which arrived from Japan, brought news from Tokyo that unusual activity is prevailing in Japan as a result of the feeling against Russia in regard to Manchuria.

The Japan Times says that far from taking steps to evacuate, it is plainly shown that Russia is engaged in active warlike preparations.

The Russian squadron was busily preparing when the Tosa Maru left for naval maneuvers, which were to commence May 10. The vessels which had just arrived to re-enforce the fleet and a portion of the Russian volunteer fleet were to take part, the aggregate displacement of the squadron being about 120,000 tons. After the maneuvers the squadron will be divided in two sections, one going to Port Arthur and the other to Vladivostok.

RESERVE FUND IS HELD DEBT

Court at Detroit Decides Against Assessors in Insurance Case.

Detroit, Mich., May 8.—According to the Wayne Circuit court, the reserve fund of a life insurance company must be considered as a debt, and the tax assessor must therefore deduct it from the company's credits instead of adding it to the list of taxable property.

This ground was taken by Judge Brooke in the suit of the Michigan Mutual Life Insurance Company against the city assessment department. The court further issued a writ of mandamus to compel the department to lower the company's assessment from nearly $7,000 to $2,955. The case will be taken to the Supreme court.

CHILDREN CHEER
THE PRESIDENT

ALL SING THE NATIONAL SONGS

Mr. Roosevelt in His Address Advises the Young People to Play With a Will, but to Ignore Play When It Comes to Work.

(Special By Scripps-Mellae.)

Redlands, Cal., May 8.—President Roosevelt was given a taste of California hospitality. A swaying mass of 10,000 people greeted his train on its arrival at noon, surrounded his carriage, cheered itself hoarse, and listened with rapt attention to his address. Governor Pardee and Lieutenant Governor Anderson met President Roosevelt at the station.

Children Cheer.

A feature of the reception that pleased the president especially was the school children who greeted him with cheering and song. Fifteen hundred children were placed in a special grand stand opposite the balcony where the president spoke. They greeted him with the wildest enthusiasm, waving American flags, and causing the president to bow again and again to the rots, smiles wreathing his face. The children later sang national airs, which again called forth his approbation.

Extends Welcome.

When the train arrived, enriages in waiting took the president to the Calma hotel. Mayor Fowler introduced Governor Pardee, who in a brief address welcomed the president to California. Assemblyman G. T. Johnson then delivered an address of welcome in behalf of the state legislature.

The great throng cheered itself hoarse when the president arose to deliver his address. It was several minutes before he could proceed. He said in part:

"I am glad, indeed, to have the chance to visit this wonderful and beautiful state, but I did not have to come to know you or like you, for I know what the sons and daughters of the state have done. If I did not appreciate their achievements I would indeed be a poor American. But for the country itself, though I had been told so much of its beauty and its wonders, I had never realized or could not realize in advance all I have seen."

Talks for Irrigation.

"Your irrigation system should be extended and widened. Forest and stream should be used to build up the interests of the homemaker, for he is the man we want to encourage in every possible way. I think our citizens are realizing more and more that we want to perpetuate the things of both use and beauty. Beauty surely has its place, and you want to make this state, more than it even now is, the garden spot of the continent."

"I congratulate you on the way you have built up these new cities in a way to illustrate the virtue of pioneer citizenship, at the same time avoiding the roughness characteristic of so many new settlements."

Remembers McKinley.

"The young men must be impressed with the idea that, whatever we have of soil, climate, or condition, it must be the man who does the most toward making a state or a nation's progress and greatness."

"Two years ago you welcomed here my chief, the late President McKinley. He did his part in war as in peace, and if it had not been for the efforts that you of the Grand Army and he put forth, we would have neither an American country nor an American President to-day."

Advice to Little Ones.

"The sight of these children convinces me of the truth of a statement just made to me by Governor Pardee when he said that in California there is no danger of race suicide. You have done well in raising oranges, and I believe you have done better raising children. Children, I have just one word for you, and it will apply to the older people as well. It is this: "When you play, play hard, and when you work, don't play at all."

The President's train stopped at San Bernardino and was greeted by an enthusiastic crowd.

GYPSIES ARE QUEER PEOPLE

WANDERERS ON THE FACE OF THE EARTH.

ONE FAMILY NEAR THE CITY

Claim To Be a Russian Branch of the Strange Nation Found Everywhere.

Camped out on the river road, near the old Culver road is a family of Gypsies. A one-legged sturdy old man is the head of the wanderers, and they range down in age to a crying baby in arms. Perhaps it is not right to say a crying baby, for Gypsy babies never cry. Some wonderful power of the mother, some inheritance of the race, makes the little ones to be always smiling and always dirty.

The Camp
Two wagons, neither of them gayly painted, or showing much of the tawny flint of the usual Romanie, are the means of locomotion. Several good looking horses, strong and capable of hauling a heavy load, if need be, quietly browse, by the carts, and a dirty, weather beaten tent flaps idly in the wind.

Wash Day
Yesterday was wash day at the camp, and the dirty clothes, the gay shirts of the men, the funny handkerchiefs of the women, the socks and long stockings all evidenced that the had not been in the wash tub for some time past. True to their instinct, these children of the road, had utilized all the available branches and fence rails and scorned the more modern and civilized method of using a clothes line.

How They Live
They are a vagrant lot. Living, as it were, from hand to mouth. The children as soon as they can crawl are given some portion of the daily work to do. To see little tots, barely up to the horses knee, crawling about the big animals heels is enough to make one shudder, but these children of the road do not know fear.

Horse Traders
The men are horse traders, laborers, when they have to, and lazy good-for-nothings as a rule. The women do the work, wash the clothes and cook the meals. Then they will tell fortunes, of every person who comes their way and who will cross their itching palm with a piece of silver. Greasy cards, or by the lines of the palm. It makes no difference. They can just as easily say that the possessor will have a long life and happiness and be rich and marry well by one means as the other. They are skillful liars but their lying is of the kind that pleases.

Are Beggars
They will be anything that takes their fancy. They want everything that has color, or that they think they can use. Could the greasy folds of their shawls be searched, many little trinkets would doubtless be found, that never have been missed but which have pleased their curious eyes. Few can read and the majority only talk in a jargon.

Are Russians
Questions as to the nationality resulted only in the query: "You speak Russian?" They claim to hail from the land of the White Czar. They say that they are a part of a great family that has come to this country years ago. Still they retain their native language. They spit about in a strange tongue that is neither pure Russian nor pure anything else, merely a jargon which has the mixture of all the country the Gypsies have traveled in. They talk fast. They are quick. They notice everything.

True Romanies
Their true name is Rom, taken from the old Sanscrit and means a man or husband. They are scattered over the world. Travellers in Brazil in 1816 tell of finding them there and even Australia has its share now. All civilized countries have their tales of them. They come and go in a night. Like the wandering Jew, they are ever on the move, never quiet, never content, but simply going from place to place in their wagon, trading horses, telling fortunes and if luck is bad, borrowing from kind farmers and unsuspecting citizens.

Their Origin
Historians have tried to trace their origin. Their language has been given the closest scrutiny, but to no avail. The absence of the arabic letters, the mixture of the persian and armenian make it probable that they came originally from Egypt or Asia major.

Character
To the outside world the Gypsy characteristic is a strange medley of good and evil. It presents a black and hateful front to the outside world. To the members of his family the Romanie is all that is fair and lovable. He is at war with all mankind, but his own people. He can plunder and beguile at will so long as he is not caught. He and his people live a vagabond existence, and never stops long at any one place. They are driven from one township to another and every crime that is committed is laid at their door.

MARCONI MAST IN MILWAUKEE

Wireless Dispatches Are To Be Received in the Cream City Soon.

If some time the Western Union or the Postal management find a strange message coming over their wires that they cannot understand or which no other operator will not O. K., they need not be alarmed. It will probably be only one of the Marconi dispatches that have missed the big pole in Milwaukee harbor and is wandering around the country until it finds a circuit it can end its days on.

Milwaukee's Move
Apparatus is being erected in Milwaukee with the view of connecting the line city the system of wireless telegraph which is being installed on the great lakes. A huge pole 225 feet high has been put up on the lake front with a sounding rod on the top to catch the messages and at the base is a little fourteen by fourteen shanty that will do service as a station for a Marconi system.

Just an Experiment
The Milwaukee system is simply an experiment at present but perhaps if successful the lines will be drawn into the interior of the state and Janesville may come in for a station owing to its prominence from a typographical point of view.

"Miss Hursey, from Jersey," Pleased Many at the Myers Grand Last Night.

Judged as a laugh producer, "Miss Hursey from Jersey," given at the Myers Grand last evening, was the blue ribbon winner of the series presented by the Van Dyke and Eaton company this week. Van Dyke, himself, had a congenial part in that of the too much married husband, and Miss Van Dyke, his sister, was a dashing Rosie. Mr. McCoy's reputation of his bicycle rim specialty was greeted by great applause. This evening a new play by the author of "Across the Desert" will be given. It is entitled "A Robber's Wife." "Hip Van Winkle" is the announcement for the Saturday matinee.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Friday, May 9, 1865.—There is no longer any reason to doubt the correctness of the report of the retreat of the army of the Potomac. The National Intelligence, of yesterday, announces that official information has been received at the war department that General Hooker, after waiting in the rain near Chancellorsville on Tuesday for a renewal of the battle by the enemy, re-crossed the Rappahannock on the evening of that day.

After the rebels occupied Fredericksburg, Hooker with his left wing carried the rebel batteries on the left bank to contain 26 guns. The guns and most of the commanders were captured.

A Washington despatch states that Lee's army's force was pushed through on Friday, Saturday and Sunday before Stoneman cut the connections.

Calro, May 7.—The dispatch boat Wilson from the fleet, brings dispatches to the government and important news. We have captured Grand Gulf with 500 prisoners, guns, two sentences were given out to be corrected. The first sentence was to be corrected as to its subject matter, and the second as to its syntax. These were the sentences:

"The hen has three legs."
"Who done it?"
When the papers were handed in, it was found that one of the pupils had apparently regarded the sentences as connected in some subtle manner, for his answer was:
"The hen didn't done it; God done it."—New York Times

RAILWAY NEWS OF TIMELY INTEREST

Charges Made in the Local Yards and on the Main Line Recently.

The annual meeting of the St. Paul Eastern Grand Trunk railway, one of the Wisconsin auxiliaries to the Chicago and North-Western road, was held Wednesday morning at the North-Western passenger station in Milwaukee. The following directors were elected: Marvin Hughtitt, Albert Keen, E. E. Osborn, D. P. Kimball, B. I. Smith, M. M. Arkman, H. R. McCullough, J. M. Whitman, W. H. Stennett, J. E. Cleveland, J. H. Redfield, A. L. Cary and Charles Uthman. Secretary J. B. Redfield, stated after the meeting that the directors would meet in Chicago later and would re-elect Mr. Hughtitt as president of the road.

The stockholders' meeting of the other auxiliary roads to the North-Western in Wisconsin will not be held until after the annual meeting of the North-Western itself which comes in June.

Western roads have agreed to follow the example of the Wisconsin Central in paying the switch charges to and from industries not situated on their tracks. The absorption of the charges will be confined to Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Minneapolis, where the lines are in competition with the Wisconsin Central.

While none of the companies interested are complaining, it is a fact that the fruit and vegetable business from the south is very late this year and up to this time there has been practically nothing shipped from that section. There has been a considerable quantity of garden truck from the south, but this far it has been shipped by express. Car loads are unheard of.

David Sloan, consulting engineer for the Illinois Central with headquarters in Chicago, resigned his position May 1, and is succeeded by A. S. Baldwin. H. S. Safford, formerly road master at Freeport and later trainmaster of the St. Louis division, takes Mr. Baldwin's place as principal assistant engineer at Chicago. Trainmaster F. M. Jones, of the Iowa division goes to Carbondale.

The Wisconsin Car Service association has virtually decided to charge the merchants of Milwaukee storage on shipments delivered in warehouses belonging to railroads. The purpose is to exact 5 cents a day per ton, the charge now in effect in Chicago. The Elkins law and the abuse of storage privileges are the causes leading to the proposed change. Under the new law it is held to be a discrimination to grant storage for one shipper and refuse it to another.

General Railroad News
Division superintendents of the Milwaukee road are in Chicago in conference with the general manager, general superintendent and assistant superintendent. Problems of the operating department are being discussed and several changes may be made.

The North Western did quick work in rebuilding a bridge which was burned at Minneopa creek, near Mankato, Minn., rebuilding the entire structure in less than forty eight hours.

The Duluth, Missabe and Northern has granted its train and engine men increases of pay amounting to 15 per cent for the freight trainmen and 12 per cent for the passenger trainmen.

The earnings of the Chicago Great Western for April show an increase of $68,419.15.

It is reported that the Great Northern is hiring men in Chicago and other places, anticipating a strike.

The committee of the Chicago Great Western telegraphers have presented a schedule of an increase in wages with Manager Goodell.

The following paragraph is in the Tribune: A Falmouth correspondent, Tuesday, sums up the present position thus: The rebels again occupy Fredericksburg and the heights, and the situation is substantially the same as before the opening of the campaign.

Yesterday was a gloomy day throughout the country, but today's dispatches materially improve the aspect of affairs.

The movement of Hooker across the river was one dictated by prudence in consequence of the rise in the river rendering his line of communication. He retired to the north bank of the Rappahannock to get 40,000 men who had not been engaged, and will now be reinforced by 20,000 under Heintzleman. Now force of the enemy drove him in his retirement.

The guerrillas at Greenville, Miss., destroyed the transport Minnesota. Sunday. The gunboats afterwards scattered the enemy.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS TO HOLD MEETING

THE ANNUAL CONVENTION TO BE HELD IN OSHKOSH.

ALL SECTS. ARE INVITED

College Presidents Will Discuss All Phases of General Sunday School Work.

The annual convention of the Wisconsin State Sunday School association will be held in Oshkosh at the First Congregational church on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, June 2, 3, and 4. Inasmuch as the work of the Sunday schools is growing in importance and is being more and more emphasized, it is the purpose of those having this convention in charge to provide a meeting where every possible inspiration shall be furnished the workers who may assemble.

It Is for All Sects
The state association is an inter-denominational body, and furnishes the common meeting ground of all the denominations. Its purposes are educational and inspirational, and its desire is to make more effective the Sunday school work of the state. It aims to organize every county into an auxiliary organization and by means of institutes and conventions to serve the workers all over the state. Then once a year in state convention it calls for a general rally of all who desire the best things for themselves and their schools.

The convention at Oshkosh will have for one of its chief attractions the services of Mrs. Mary Fosterlyrner of Illinois, one of the international workers and a woman who has not only made primary Sunday school work a specialty, but who is competent to deal with many other problems connected with general school work. Mrs. Bryner will be present throughout the entire session and will not only give addresses but will meet delegates and teachers in face to face talks.

A Day for Educators
Wednesday, the second day of the convention, will be educators' day. The great convention held in Chicago in the interest of religious education last February was in answer to the call of over 100 of the leading educators of the United States. The result was the formation of the Religious Education association. In order that Wisconsin may be in touch with such matters the field secretary, Rev. J. T. Chynoweth, has invited some of the leading educators of the state to meet with the workers and discuss the Sunday school problem. There has been the most hearty acceptance of this invitation by the educators and plans have been matured so that their service will have the widest possible influence.

Professors to Read Short Papers
Dean Birge of the state university and Presidents Plantz of Appleton, Hughes of Ripon, Eaton of Beloit, Halsey of the Oshkosh normal and McKenny of the Milwaukee normal are to be present and give twenty-five minute papers on themes which have to do with improved Sunday school methods. A circular letter has been sent out to the clergy of the state asking them to plan to be present and to be prepared to discuss the papers presented by the educators. "Graded Lessons," "What Has the System of Religious Instruction to Learn from the State System?" "The Rewards of Sunday School Work," "The Bible Pedagogically Considered," are among some of the topics to be discussed. It is expected that this day will be of unusual interest.

Music by Collegians
Throughout the session music will be furnished by the ladies' quartette of Lawrence university. There will be conferences of county officers, conferences of superintendents and conferences of ministers. The opening session will be Tuesday forenoon and continue throughout the three days.

Oshkosh will furnish free entertainment for all accredited delegates and all other S. S. workers. It is hoped that the number of schools represented will be large, and that the hospitality of Oshkosh may be taxed to its utmost.

START BOOM FOR EX-GOVERNOR PECK

May Elect Him Department Commander of the State G. A. R. This Year.

Word comes from Madison that the boom has been started for George W. Peck for state commander of the Wisconsin Commandry of the G. A. R. Many Janesville men remember the genial ex-governor as he was in the war days. Many will doubtless be ready to urge his support and will do all they can to honor their former comrade in arms to the highest position in the state G. A. R.

Jealous George
That George W. Peck is popular is without question. He is more than that. Everywhere he goes he makes friends and many men not in the G. A. R., know the former chief executive from their camp life at Lake Koshkonong, where he is in the custom of hunting. He is a good story teller and an honest sympathetic friend.

An Old Print
Peck belongs to the "profession." Before the war he was at a case in the State Journal office. He never really got out of it, for after the war he became owner and publisher of a little paper known as Peck's Sun, the paper which had been circulated in the United States. Then he became governor and was spotted him for the work. Since then he has done a little writing from time to time and has delivered lectures on the lyceum platform to interested audiences.

Well Known
Should the G. A. R. choose the ex-governor as their commander they would elect a man who has a world-wide reputation and one who could do honor to the position as few other men.

Fishing at Ford: H. H. McKinney, P. J. Mount, C. E. Pierce, and John Cunningham made up a fishing expedition to Indian Ford today.

Two of the new horizontal tubular boilers for the Janesville pumping station have arrived.

STOUT'S BILL IS NOT POPULAR

Theatrical Men Say His Anti-Child Action Bill Is Entirely Too Broad.

Senator Stout's bill in the legislature which aims to prevent children under 15 years of age from appearing on the stage as musicians, singers, actors, gymnasts, acrobats, or otherwise, does not meet the approval of the theatrical profession at large throughout the state.

Too Radical
Many say it is too radical. That the conditions which surround the child of the stage is something that the layman does not understand. That he cannot appreciate. Manager F. M. Coggeshall, of the Van Dyke and Eaton company, playing at the Myers Grand, says of the bill:

Good in Parts
"The bill is good in parts. Primarily the children of the stage should be educated. The law should read that children must be accompanied by their parents or guardians and that they should have a system of education which should be as much a part of their daily work as was their stage appearance. To have a tutor is better. A person that could take the child's spare moments from stage work for regular lessons. If such a bill could be drafted then it would be some good.

Personal Experience
"I have been connected with the stage for the past eighteen years. In many of the companies there have been children, but they have always been accompanied by their parents or in the care of some responsible person. The average stage goer believes that the life of stage people is all one of gaiety and pleasure. They think that all they have to do is to appear each night and be at their best. They do not know the sad weary side of the life. The endless little things that worry the actor and actress, the petty annoyances they must put up with. From eight to fourteen the child is forming the future of its life. Give them a chance to become educated; give them their birthright and they will make good men and women.

No Argument
"It is no argument to say that an older person could take the children's part in a production calling for the innocent child. It is an impossibility. A child has a versatile magnetism that can not be approached by an older person. There is something in the child's manner, in their appearance that can not be imitated. Let the child remain on the stage but if the law makers want to let them make a law that will compel the parents to see that the child is properly educated."

Mr. G. R. de Vontom, the tenor with Mme. Rosa d'Erna, who will give the organ and song recital in St. Mary's church on Sunday night, is a native of the island of Jersey and is a cousin of Mrs. Langtry, the famous actress who is also a native of the island.

The Philomathian club will meet with Mrs. H. D. Murdoch, South Third street, Saturday afternoon, May ninth, at three o'clock.

PROMOTING HARMONY

The Governor's Milwaukee Organ, is supposed to speak by the card. The paper, in its editorial utterances, partakes so largely of the spirit of the governor that it is amusing to watch its antics along the lines of promoting harmony.

The Madison Journal and the Oshkosh Northwestern have long been recognized as staunch republican journals. Both papers supported the administration during the prevention campaign while the question of harmony was freely advocated.

The Madison paper is edited by Amos P. Wilder, a versatile writer, and an old newspaper man. The Oshkosh paper is controlled by John M. Hicks, a veteran in the service, and a progressive publisher.

These two papers gained the ill will of the administration, by not endorsing all the fads advanced, and the Milwaukee Organ has lost no opportunity since that time, to burlesque and ridicule, not the papers, but the two gentlemen who have forgotten more about journalism, than the Milwaukee paper has yet discovered.

Mr. Wilder is referred to as Dr. Wilder, and Mr. Hicks as Dr. Hicks, and the penny liner who holds these two men up to ridicule, imagines that he is an editor. In a recent issue, the Cream City Organ contains the following tirade, on its editorial page. The Gazette reproduces it, so that the paper's constituency may have an opportunity to see how much effort the governor is making along the lines of harmony.

The Two Doctors

"For a week or two back the two doctors have been considerably drawn towards each other, and have kept up a pleasant little exchange of good things they have said about the Free Press. For instance, one day the Madison doctor says that when Dr. Hicks praises La Follette, the Free Press copies and commends; but when he criticizes the governor, it puts quotation marks around him and intimates that he is a fool. The next day Doctor Hicks copies this, under the headline, 'It makes a difference.' Then Doctor Hicks says that a certain 'play on words' by the Free Press was both impertinent and unwarranted; and that its judgment is warped by its extreme prejudice. This the Madison doctor copies under the headline, 'Even the worm will turn,' and so on. And so on.

This play on words which our good friend Dr. Hicks of Oshkosh imagines the Free Press perpetrated, and which so stirred his slow indignation—for the doctor is a patient soul—was no intentional offense on our part. In the Northwestern, the doctor's paper, there recently appeared an item, beginning: 'Harmony has perched within easy reach,' with the Free Press copied, with the heading 'Opinion from Harmony Hicks.' The doctor, it will be understood, has so constantly prayed for harmony, that it was justifiable to give his opinion as the opinion of 'Dr. Harmony Hicks.' But one of those freak things happened that are always happening, and the type machine so set up and the proof reader passed the item to make it begin: 'Harmony Hicks has perched within easy reach.' This is the unwarranted impertinence of which the doctor complains, and which complaint the Madison doctor joyfully approves. The idea that Dr. Hicks could 'perch within easy reach'!

HIGH PRICES ABROAD

It appears that high prices are quite as much the rule in England as in the United States at the present time. Prof. Sauerbeck's annual statement, 'Prices of Commodities' published in the Journal of the British Royal Statistical Society, for March 31, 1903, just received by the Treasury Bureau of Statistics, show high prices in foodstuffs, in iron, and in textiles, during the year 1902. The statement begins with a series of 'Index number' tables, showing in dex prices for groups of articles from 1893 to 1902. The index number for the group designated 'vegetable food' stands at 63 for the year 1902, against 60 in 1899 and 53 in 1896; that for 'animal food' stands 87 in 1902, against 77 in 1898 and 73 in 1896; that for 'minerals' stands at 82 in 1902, against 70 in 1898 and 62 in 1895, that for 'textiles' stands at 81 in 1902, against 51 in 1898 and 52 in 1895; and the index number for the group designated 'sundry materials' stands at 71 in 1902, against 63 in 1898 and 62 in 1897. Commenting upon these figures the statement says: 'Meat was dear during the greater part of the year, and beef ruled in June and July higher than at any time since 1883; Scotch pig iron rose from 48s per ton to 58s. 4d in September and dropped to 53s 6d at the end of the year. Flax was higher in the summer, but lost the advance later on. Jute was dearer in the second half of the year; fine wool advanced 25-50 per cent. Silk ruled also higher. Tallow, Palm oil, and nitrate were dearer.'

Commenting upon condition in the United States the report says: 'The United States have again occupied an exceptional position. If a year ago fears were expressed that the state of affairs there were not free from danger, it must now be admitted that they were premature, as the marvelous prosperity has continued unabated to the present day. American securities had another boom, and though a reaction followed, the last prices still occupy a high level. It is estimated that the iron production of the states reached an enormous total of 17,000,000 tons, and even this was insufficient for the requirements.'

DEVELOPMENT IN BANKING

There are ten banks in New York City according to the Wall Street Journal whose deposits amount to more than $50,000,000 each, and one where the deposits exceed $100,000,000. Deposits in all the banks exceed $3,000,000,000, or nearly double what they were in 1897.

During the past five years the capital and surplus in all the national banks of the country has increased 32 per cent. Bank facilities are usually a good barometer for business, and the era of prosperity that has come to these financial houses, has blessed many branches of commercial and industrial life.

Back of the bank and the factory, is the farm, for on the prosperity of the producer, depends the prosperity of the nation. Wall Street has an abundance of money when the land responds bountifully to the touch of the husbandman.

The past five years have been record breaking years in the agricultural districts, and transportation companies have been taxed to their capacity to move the products of the farm.

There has been no particular boom but steady development, and a spirit of thrift and wholesome economy has prevailed. There is more money today in the savings banks of the country than at any time in history, and this money is largely the property of men who work with their hands for a living.

Many of them have found it possible to live well and lay by a little money, and so habits of economy have been cultivated. The country is not suffering for tariff revision, or reform measures of any kind. It is a good time to work, and to be happy.

The latest bill on game laws is sensible. It provides for fifteen days spring shooting, and prohibits the sale of game. The bill should pass and the license fee should be abolished, and game wardens discharged. Local officials can look after dealers. When market shooting is prohibited there will be no market shooters, and sportsmen who shoot for pleasure will not need watching, and there is no reason why they should be taxed.

A bill is now pending in the Massachusetts legislature, to prohibit the use of grading stamps. Minnesota recently passed such a law, which is very much appreciated by the merchants. Business men are discovering that all kinds of fake advertising are expensive luxuries, half the money invested in legitimate channels, would produce double the results.

Plenty of campaign material has been secured for the next campaign, and the administration is ready for fourmout. The state is suffering from a liberal use of La Follettism.

A 500 pound magnet is the latest substitute for the surgeon's knife, a piece of steel imbedded in a boy's face was recently extracted by an electrician in Valero, California.

Several large factories have recently left Chicago on account of the labor troubles. There is a limit to the demands of labor, and in many cases the limit has been exceeded.

The State Board of Control did a sensible thing, in letting the contract for coal for the State School for the Blind to a local dealer.

Senator McGilberry has brought out an apology from the Milwaukee Sentinel, that should be highly satisfactory.

What has become of A. R. Hall. He

DEBATE OCCURS THIS EVENING

APPLETON AND JANESVILLE HIGH SCHOOLS WILL CONTEST.

OWNERSHIP OF COAL MINES

Declaratory Contest Will Occur Between Two Teams—Banquet
Will Follow Program.

Appleton and Janesville high schools will meet in debate this evening. The result of the past contests between the two institutions is a tie, and that fact makes the incentive toward victory the keener. In addition to the debate a declaratory contest will be held, three speakers representing each school. The award will be based on the average of the team, and not on individual merit.

Ownership of Mines
Resolved, that the United States government should own and operate the anthracite coal mines within its borders, it being conceded that the United States has the legal right to acquire the property under consideration. That is only wording of the question upon which the logic of the six debaters will be brought to bear. Approximately fifty minutes will be occupied by each team.

The Speakers
Janesville will be represented by Henry Skavlem, Harry Deran and John Roberts, who will speak in the order given. They will uphold the affirmative of the question. Clarence Zelle, August Beler, and Delton Howard are Appleton's debaters. The contest will take place in the gymnasium, beginning at seven-thirty o'clock in order that the long program may be completed as early as possible.

Declaratory Program
Following the debate the declaimers will speak. Janesville's first representative will give the initial declamation, and the members of the teams will alternate thereafter. The subjects and speakers are given herewith:

"Cherokee Roses," Ethel Bates.
"A Christmas Substitute," Lillian Lowell.
"The Old Drum Corps," Harriet Decker.
"Madeline Brehan," Bessie Kneusted.
"Dillie Keen, Floy Scofield.
"The Iron Shroud," Herbert Lennon.

Banquet to Follow
During the evening music will be furnished by the high school orchestra. The visiting debaters and declaimers will be the guests of honor at a banquet which will be held at the Myers house following the program. The banquet will also be the annual banquet of the Rusk Lyceum. Covers will be laid for about fifty. The preparations for the affair have been made by John Roberts and Roy Waters. Toasts are to be given by Supt. Buell on "The Lyceum," Russell Zeiminger on "The Appleton Team," and Thomas Casey on "The Girls."

Judges of Evening
The Appleton speakers are accompanied by their principal, W. F. Wasey, and his wife, and Miss Rose McNevin, instructor in elocution. The judges for this evening are to be Prof. A. A. Upham and Kinsman of the Whitewater normal school, and Supt. R. B. Dudgeon of Madison.

THE EVENTS OF THE DAY

Progress With Assessments: The assessors have practically completed the real assessments in the first wards.

Drums Are Gone: The discovery has just been made by prominent members of the Y. M. C. A. band that the two drums belonging to the band which were loaned to "Happy Hooligan" last fall have never been returned. A vain search has been made for "Happy's" address.

Making Improvements: Improvements in the East Side Odd Fellows hall are going forward rapidly. The metal framework in front has been placed and today two thirty-five-foot steel "I" beams, which will support the third floor, are being put in position. These are being hauled to the second floor by means of block and tackle, their length and size making the task no easy one.

YATES MAY CALL SPECIAL SESSION

REFUSE REQUEST FOR RECESS

Lawmakers Decline to Postpone Adjournment for One Week in Order to Give Executive Time to Digest Street-Car Legislation.

Springfield, Ill., May 8.—After a day filled with speculation as to what Governor Yates might do with regard to the Mueller street-car bill, the legislature finally adjourned at a late hour last night without receiving any intimation of what course the Governor might take. It is now understood the Governor will take time to fully consider the bill before approving or vetoing it. Should he conclude to veto the measure he may call the legislature together in special session to pass a traction bill that will not be open to objection.

Asks for Recess.

The Governor intimated this in a letter which he sent to prominent members of the senate and house. Just when the Governor will announce his decision on the bill is not known. He would not indicate when word from him might be expected.

The events of the day—with regard to the traction bill were a letter from Governor Yates to the house and senate requesting that the legislature take a recess till May 14, instead of adjourning sine die, in order that bills he might veto could be considered by the general assembly before adjournment; a letter from the Governor to Attorney General Hamlin asking for an opinion on the Mueller bill, and the rendition by the Attorney General of an opinion, in which he declares the bill valid and constitutional.

Asks Hamline's Opinion.

Governor Yates wired to Chicago to John H. Hamline for an opinion on the bill. It was not until late in the evening that the Governor announced he would take no action on the bill. All day there were various rumors as to the Governor's intentions—all without authority from him. It was said on the one hand that he intended to veto it and on the other that he proposed to approve it. As it stands he has done nothing on the bill as yet. Had he sent a veto message on the bill a vigorous effort would have been made to pass it over his head.

May Call Extra Session.

Governor Yates decided further that, in the event of his coming to a conclusion that he would veto the bill, the legislature should have an opportunity to either pass the measure over his head or enact a new bill free of the objections urged against the Mueller bill. His purpose was, on the one hand, to avoid signing an objectionable bill, if he should find the Mueller bill to be such, and at the same time to prevent the necessity of calling a special session to consider traction legislation in case the general assembly did not pass the bill despite a veto.

Wants Time to Consider.

He wanted the legislature and the men who have been demanding traction legislation for Chicago to have every opportunity to procure an unobjectionable bill. For this purpose he wished the general assembly to take a recess till May 14 instead of adjourning sine die. This would give him ample time to carefully consider the Mueller bill and give the legislature an opportunity to replace it with another measure should he feel compelled to disapprove the Mueller bill.

Members Oppose Recess.

Word of the governor's action and his desire for a recess in the session soon spread in both branches, although no formal announcement of the governor's communications was made till later in the day. It was soon manifest that the temper in both houses was opposed to the proposed recess. A week ago the Sherman men in the house proposed just such a recess in order that the legislature might convene to consider vetoed bills. At that time the majority of the house was opposed to the proposition, which was advanced as a club to be held over the governor in case he did not approve the street-car bill.

When the governor himself submitted the same proposition, the result was the same. Some of those who were eager for a recess a week ago were against it yesterday. The question was finally settled in the senate when the motion to reconsider the vote by which the senate had concurred in the house resolution for sine die adjournment on May 7 came up.

Senator Campbell read the governor's letter and stated the conditions of the case. But the senate would not consent to a recess. The motion to reconsider was laid on the table by a decisive majority and a final adjournment was made imperative.

Chicago Man Arrested.

Kenosha, Wis., May 8.—Christian Hall of Chicago was arrested on a charge of larceny. He is said to be an expert bicycle thief, and it is alleged that he has stolen sixty wheels from Racine, Kenosha, and Zion City in the past thirty days.

British Statistics.

London, May 8.—The April statement of the board of trade shows decreases of $11,985,000 in imports and of $1,780,500 in exports.

To Succeed James S. Harlan. Washington, D. C., May 8.—Willis Sweet of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, has been appointed Attorney General of Porto Rico to succeed James S. Harlan, who recently resigned. Mr. Sweet was at one time Associate Justice of the territory of Idaho, and later represented his state in Congress.
